The authors conclude that the reports of potential irreversible sexual dysfunction and severe depression do raise concerns about the safety of finasteride; however, these studies are wrought with significant bias.

While this national figure shows this employment rate increase is the same for all other occupations, it’s important to note that we have one of the greatest need for pharmacists in the Central Valley.

While 72 percent of its members that posted results for the September quarter have matched or beaten estimates, versus 60 percent in June, the gauge’s profits have risen just 2 percent over the previous quarter, data compiled by Bloomberg show.